Viticulture and Oenology

Under the umbrella of the Wine Act are a number of Legal Notices (L.N.) that cover specific wine sector aspects:

- The Denomination of Origin and Geographic Indications Regulations, 2006 (L.N. 190 of 2006) lays down detailed rules relating to categories of grapevine products, oenological practices and restrictions.
- The DOK (Wines) Production Protocols Regulations, 2007 (L.N. 416 of 2007) and the IGT (Wines) Production Protocols Regulations, 2007 (L.N. 136 of 2007) regulate wines having a Denomination of Controlled Origin (Denominazzjoni ta' Origni Kontrollata) and wines having a Typical Geographical Indication (Indikazzjoni Geografika Tipika) respectively. These Regulations lay down detailed rules relating to these two wine product categories, oenological practices, labelling and presentation requirements, traditional terms and restrictions.
- The Classification of Vine Varieties (Production of Wine Grapes) Regulations, 2006 (L.N. 188 of 2006, lists those wine grape varieties that may be cultivated on the islands of Malta and Gozo for the production of wine products.
- The Wine and Vitivinicultural Products (Stocks Declaration) Regulations, 2006 (L.N. 189 of 2006), covers the rules as regards the compilation of the stocks declaration of wines and musts.

Oleiculture

LEGAL BASIS:

The oleiculture sector is regulated at EU level by the following Regulations:

- Council Regulation (EC) no 865/2004 on the common organisation of the market in olive oil and table olives, which regulates the sector in the EU and covers olive oils and its fractions, fresh olives and olives which have undergone processing, as well as other olive residues.
- Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) no 29/2012 on the marketing standards for olive oil, which lays down specific standards for retail-stage marketing of olive oils and olive-pomace oils.
- Commission Regulation (EC) no 61/2011 and Commission Regulation (EEC) no 2568/91 on the characteristics of olive oil and olive-residue oil and on the relevant methods of analysis.

Apiculture

LEGAL BASIS:

The apiculture sector is regulated nationally by the Beekeeping Regulations, 1992 (L.N. 110 of 1992), as well as L.N. 213/04, which implements nationally the provisions of Council Directive 2001/110/EC relating to honey and Council Regulation (EC) of 797/2004 on measures improving general conditions for the production and marketing of apiculture produce.
